

About

General

I am a multi-instrumentalist Singer/Songwriter and Producer specialized in NeoSoul/HipHop/Funk/Indie music. By mixing elements of Soul HipHop and Jazz I'm trying to create a different vibe.

“It's a constant change between intimate acoustic instruments and electronic elements.
But always a stable world in itself.”

Services

Besides playing my original songs (from solo show, up to a whole band), I can also offer you professional recoding and mixing work (I also love collabs). I am also long term experienced in cover music (singing and guitar) and teaching guitar, singing and songwriting. If you are interested in any of these contact me via e-mail.

History

I was born in the year 2000 as Adrian Branz and grew up in the southern german countryside. I was born with a disability on my right arm, that is why I had to develop my own techniques on every instrument I play. When I was 8 years old I first started to learn classical guitar and I immediately fell in love with music. Some years later I was introduced to the electric guitar and the drums, a bit later to singing. This was the time when I started playing and singing in band projects and composing original songs. At the age of 16 I started play guitar in a BigBand, so my interest and studies in jazz music started to influence my playing and composing style. With lots of years of practice and my a-levels I moved to Mannheim to grow my musical knowledge and reach. After some successful time in the cover music business I changed my artist name to Van Haezeler and started to compose on a debut EP. Since September 2020 I'm studying Singer/Songwriter and Guitar in Dinkelsbuehl (Germany).

Current Projects

Van Haezeler (Solo project), Ubiquitous (HipHop/Rap), Vibe City (NeoSoul), BigBand² (Bigband-Jazz), Cheesecake Factory (Funk and Soul-Cover), Babos JazzDuo (Jazz)
